Paris, June 23, 2008

« Caminhos de Ferros Portugueses » (CP), the Portuguese railway network, has just entrusted again to Servirail, the Portuguese subsidiary of Compagnie des Wagnons-Lits (Accor Group), the catering service operating on board Alfa Pendular High Speed Trains. The value of this new 3 year contract is estimated at about € 15 millions.

Since 2002, Servirail has been offering services and catering on board trains and its activities have been growing during these last six years (Lisboa-Porto in 2002, Lisboa-Madrid in 2005 and Porto-Faro in 2007).

22 daily trips of Alfa Pendular trains will then insure the transport of about one million passengers a year along the North-South Atlantic axis so connecting the totality of the Portuguese area from Braga to Faro.

"Within the framework of our ambitious policy emphasizing our trademarks based on innovation and which aims to develop concepts in service and catering with respect for each local culture and railway network, a new trademark " Latitudes, coffee - comboio " has been created.
